An Evening Good for Your Heart is Good for Local Cardio Rehab Program

Laughter and red wine—benefits for the heart will fuel a benefit for the Brockville Cardiovascular Program June 8th.

The Brockville Cardiovascular Program (BCP) Committee will host a fundraiser called "Laughter for the Heart" at the Brockville Memorial Centre on June 8th. Two successful annual benefits for the BCP, the annual wine tasting and the comedy night with international funnyman Jimmy Keys, have been combined this year to produce a very special evening good for the heart and soul.

The BCP operates at the Charles Street Site of Brockville General Hospital. Recovering cardiac patients from Brockville and surrounding area no longer have to travel to Ottawa or Kingston to access information, or to get support in making lifestyle changes toward a healthy recovery. Brockville Cardiovascular Program offers individualized programs of exercise, education, and counseling with the assistance of a multi-professional team including a kinesiologist, a dietician, a nurse, a respiratory therapist and a pharmacist.

"This program gets no funding from the Ministry," says Sherri Hudson, Co-Chair of the Brockville Cardiovascular Program Committee. "We operate on an annual budget of approximately $130,000—all from generous corporate and private donations." The BCP has been very successful in its first two years of operation, graduating 185 patients from its six- and twelve-week programs, with another 30 through home programs.

"We are very fortunate to have this cardio rehab program in our community," says Hudson. "The community has not only supported the program, but the generosity of local individuals and businesses has allowed it to expand over the past few months."

The wine tasting will run from 5:30 to 7:00 p.m. at the Brockville Memorial Centre, followed by the show with Jimmy Keys from 7:30 to 9:00 p.m. Tickets are $75.00 per person, and may be purchased at the RipNET offices on Water Street in Brockville.

You may call RipNET at 613-342-3946, ext. 282 or e-mail at bcp@ripnet.com.

BGH Marks Mental Health Week

For Mental Health Week, Brockville General Hospital was pleased to host several events.

Pictured left is Heather Crawford, BGH VP Clinical Services and CNE, introducing Dr. Robert Malone, BGH Chief of Psychiatry to a packed CSS auditorium for his Staff Lunch and Learn May 3rd. Dr. Malone presented the latest information on mental health issues and an update on the impending transfer of acute care mental health services from the Brockville Mental Health Centre to BGH.

Dr. Roumen Milev, Head of Psychiatry at Queen's University, provided a public presentation May 4th on mental health and the work to-date of the Mental Health and Addictions Team for the South East LHIN's Clinical Services Roadmap.

The ROHCG's Mental Health Crisis Team rounded off the week May 6th by engaging the public and staff at BGH with a display showcasing information on mental health issues and the valuable services the team provides. Pictured below is Kathy Putnam, RN, from the Crisis Team with Heather Crawford.

BGH Sees Good Local Response to Paper Survey

Brockville General Hospital reports a good response to access to paper copies of the Clinical Services Roadmap community survey via partnership with the City of Brockville and the United Counties of Leeds and Grenville.

"The on-line survey was available to the public until May 15th," explains Heather Crawford, VP Clinical Services and CNE for the hospital, "but we knew a certain portion of our population did not have e-mail or a computer to register for the survey. We asked the City and the Counties to help offer paper copies to our residents who needed them and they were happy to assist. The response was very good."

The Clinical Services Roadmap is the current regional review of clinical services by the South East Local Health Integration Network (SE LHIN). Seven areas—Surgical, Restorative Care, Mental Health and Addictions, Maternal/Newborn, Hospital-Acquired Infections, Emergency Department, and Cardiovascular—are under review with the aim to create a regionalized system of integrated health care that will ensure everyone has access to the right care, in the right place, at the right time.

The community survey for public input regarding patient care was available on-line through the SE LHIN web site. Paper copies were available by request at both BGH sites, from the City Clerk at Brockville City Hall, and at any municipal office in Leeds/Grenville. A special public information table with paper copies on hand was hosted by the Brockville General Volunteer Association at the 1000 Islands Mall on Saturday, April 30th.

In total, 195 paper copies were requested. Over 80 were completed, returned and sent on to the SE LHIN.

"We're pleased to see people who could not use the on-line version taking paper copies to fill out," says Crawford. "It is so important that engagement involves as much of the community as possible."

Mental Health Transfer Update (as of May 31, 2011)

This past month has been busy within the focus of mental health for BGH. For Mental Health Week (May 1 to 7), Brockville General Hospital was pleased to host Dr. Roumen Milev, Head of Psychiatry at Queen's University, for a public presentation on mental health and the work to-date of the Mental Health and Addictions Team for the South East LHIN's Clinical Services Roadmap. Dr. Robert Malone, Chief of Psychiatry for BGH, engaged the staff that week with a Lunch and Learn on mental health issues and a discussion on the upcoming transfer of services. The ROHCG's Mental Health Crisis Team also engaged the public and staff at BGH with a display showcasing information on mental health issues and the valuable services the team provides. Linda Peever continues in her role as Interim Director of Mental Health with BGH, coordinating the detailed planning required to ensure a successful transfer of governance and management of the acute inpatient services, the assertive community treatment team, crisis and outreach services, outpatient services and the associated support services (ECT and EEG). The position of permanent Director of Mental Health for BGH is now posted on the BGH public web site. The Ministry has asked for an update on the renovation at BGH for the new mental health unit for early June, and we are hopeful that it will then be a part of the next round of capital funding. Recently, Stantec architectural firm (Peterborough Regional Health Centre, Montfort Hospital redevelopment, Cornwall Community Hospital) was signed on to lead the renovation and began work May 10th.

At both the Brockville Mental Health Centre and Brockville General Hospital, we continue to work through the details required to successfully complete the transfer of acute care mental health services. Ahead is the finalization of staffing requirements and the subsequent discussions with OPSEU, ONA, CUPE and management from both ROHCG and BGH. Transfer of governance of Elmgrove is targeted for the end of this calendar year.

Brass Racks Icebreaker Tournament Supports Palliative Care

The winning team in the Brass Racks Annual Icebreaker Tournament has chosen the Brockville and District Hospice Palliative Care Service (BDHPCS) as their winnings donation charity of choice.

"It's the first time since 2000 that we've won," says John Vitols, captain of the Sam's Brass Racks pool team, "and we always choose palliative care. Many of our team members have had family use the local service. Palliative care seems to touch everyone."

Sam's Brass Rack billiard hall and bar has held the Annual Icebreaker Tournament for over 20 years.

"It's a fun day for everyone," explains owner Sam Major. "The teams pay fees to enter, and we hold 50/50 draws to cover our costs. Whatever is left over is designated for charity, with the winning team deciding which one."

Major says Tata's Pizza made a generous food donation, which helps toward keeping costs down and the charitable donation total up.

"This year, we raised $1025.00," she adds.

The BDHPCS operates under the umbrella of Brockville General Hospital, offering support at any point from diagnosis to bereavement—and beyond, with families coping with loss. The team works with patients at home, in long-term care homes, and at both Charles and Garden Streets sites of Brockville General Hospital. The nurse consult service receives no government funding. Donations to the BDHPCS can be made through the Brockville and District Hospital Foundation.

BGH Hosts Mock Disaster May 18th

If you saw extra activity, ambulances, tents or police cars around Brockville General Hospital on May 18th, it was no reason to panic says BGH Communications Officer Maggie Wheeler.

Post event debriefing and discussion with all engaged BGH departments and community partners

“We hosted a mock Code Orange (external disaster) to test our systems,” explains Wheeler. “It’s a proactive measure in case this city ever really faced a major situation.”

The exercise involved other services that would respond in such an event, including the Brockville Fire Department, the Brockville Police Department and paramedic services. It also relied on the dramatic services of 24 BCI students to provide injuries and casualties.

BGH Celebrates National Nurses’ Week

Nursing Potluck and Presentation held May 12th at Brockville General Hospital was only one of many events organized to celebrate BGH nurses as part of National Nurses’ Week May 9th to 13th. Other events included a coffee kick-off, a lunch and learn, and the popular Nurses’ Week Breakfast sponsored by the BGH physicians.

BGH Staff (l – r) Michelle McCabe (RN), “Care Clowns” Janet Stark (Spiritual Care Coordinator) and Sharron Fairgrieve (Spiritual Care Volunteer), Diane Bowen (Nursing Educator), Deanne Osborne (Manager, 1East), Laurie Ouellette (Administrative Assistant), and Brandice Hartin (RN).

Enjoying the physicians’ breakfast are (l – r) Jennifer MacNeil, RN (ER); Laurie Penny, RN (Med-Surg); and James Catellier, Porter.

The Nurses’ Week Barbeque took place at both sites. Manning the flames at GSS are (l – r) Frances Kennedy, Sandra Thompson, and Janis Easton.

Brockville and District Hospice Palliative Care Program- Sharing our Knowledge

On May 19, 2011 the Southeastern Ontario Palliative & End-of-Life Care Network in collaboration with St. Lawrence College, Kingston, held a conference entitled "Making a Difference" – Working Locally, Thinking Regionally. The conference was designed to provide practical knowledge and skills to health care providers and volunteers who work with clients who are living with a life-limiting illness.

The Brockville and District Palliative Care team were asked to prepare and present two workshops on the 3 C's – Consoling, Compassion and Comfort.

Joan Schwarze, Palliative Care Coordinator, Charleen Findon, Palliative Care consult nurse, Patricia Howlett, coordinator of Palliative Care Volunteers, and Vaughnette Chatzikiriakos, personal support worker, were the presenters. The workshop was for non-registered health care providers, was interactive and demonstrated hands on tips and tools to enable participants to provide compassionate comfort measures at the bedside. The team of presenters was well received and the feedback from those who took part in the workshops was very positive and complimentary. If you would like more information about the presentation, or would like to organize a similar presentation for your department, please do not hesitate to contact the Palliative Care Team at 613-345-5649 X 4412.

Highlights of Hospice

National Hospice Palliative Care week took place from May 1st to 7th.

Brockville and District Hospice Palliative Care Service hosted a number of events to raise awareness for National Hospice Palliative Care week and to celebrate all the work that they do. "Highlights of Hospice" was the theme for the week. There was an education event for all Palliative Care, Spiritual Care and BGH Hospital volunteers as well as an appreciation cake and coffee on 5th floor of the Garden Street Site for patients, their loved ones and staff. An information table, which highlighted the work of the Hospice Palliative Care Program was set up outside the cafeteria at the Charles Street site with more cake and coffee and an open house for the public at the Garden Street site. It was a lot of work and a lot of organizing but the team plan to do it again next year. If you missed the opportunity to take part in hospice week this year, do watch for it again next May.

If you or someone you know would like more information about the Palliative Care Program at the Brockville General Hospital, please call our main number 613-345-5649 X 4412.

Thank you to all who either bought or baked for our United Way Bake Sale last month. The bake sale was a huge success, we made $282.00. All money will be donated to the United Way Brockville.

IM/IT Project Update

We have successfully completed user acceptance testing on May 18th for the e-health Clinical Document Repository (CDR) project. Osgood and the Upper Canada Family Health teams were able to see discharge summaries and radiology reports from within their EMR applications and also from within the CDR portal. It was met with enthusiasm and excitement in realizing the significant potential for the support of EHR. Internally, we were all pleasantly surprised not only by the reaction of the family health teams' but also by how quickly a report is generated from Ottawa and available almost immediately within the physician EMR.

Here are the key benefits of the CDR –

- The CDR is a regional repository of the key patient records that are most commonly shared among healthcare providers across the continuum of care for those patients. This is a key component towards the development of an electronic health record for the citizens of Eastern Ontario.
- The CDR helps improve care provided within two LHINs by sharing relevant health care information amongst clinicians
- Reduce turnaround time for delivery of clinical documents from days to minutes
- Reduce administrative overhead required to support paper-based approaches
- Implement a standard approach to sharing clinical documents to reduce the need for multiple projects to develop direct hospital to EMR integration
- The solution provides a central access point for content to regional portals that can be accessed by hospitals and other health service providers

This project is a true regional collaboration between the South East LHIN and the Champlain LHIN to create a regional clinical document repository for Eastern Ontario.

The CDR is also a key component identified both in the CSR and with the cNEO regional collaboration model with the Northern LHINS, Champlain and SELHIN as per below.

ConnectingNEO will make recommendations for the design and implementation of regional integration services and solutions. Key guiding principles are;

- Patient centric focus
- Maximize the benefits of Provincial, LHIN and HSP investments in existing eHealth assets and lessons learned

Opportunity to continue momentum with regional ehealth initiatives

- Do this through investment in foundation initiatives (quick-wins) allowing clinicians to see continued & immediate benefits from LHIN/regional ehealth systems

Enhance regional readiness by implementing cornerstone systems similar to other regions in province – such as:

- Regional Portal – Clinical Viewer to render provincial & regional ehealth information

Regional CDR (clinical document repository) – enables sharing & storage of structured reports between HSPs (ie. Disch Summary; Emerg Dept Rpts; Visit Encounter Rpts; Consults)

Regional HIAL (health information access layer) – Integration services for the Region to facilitate information sharing amongst HSPs in standardized & secure manner

BGH is the host site for the CDR and is looking forward to the opportunity to expand this model further. IM/IT is to be congratulated on the work and effort in managing a multi-LHIN e-health project with success. Thanks to everyone involved in this success and to BGH and TOH on their collaboration on this key regional project

Brockville General Hospital teams up with Canadian Cancer Society Smokers' Helpline to support patients quitting tobacco

Brockville General Hospital (BGH) has partnered with the Canadian Cancer Society Smokers' Helpline to offer follow-up to patients who are quitting smoking. Patients are offered brief counseling and nicotine replacement therapy while in hospital and follow-up support from Smokers' Helpline is arranged upon discharge.

The partnership is in collaboration with the University of Ottawa Heart Institute's (UOHI) Ottawa Model for Smoking Cessation (OMSC) program. BGH was among the first hospitals to join the program in 2008. Participation means that BGH health professionals systematically identify smokers on admission, administer a bedside assessment, and provide cessation medication during hospitalization.

Until now, when patients in the program received a series of mandatory automated calls following discharge, UOHI smoking cessation nurses would provide counseling, by phone, for those identified as requiring further follow up. The new partnership with the Canadian Cancer Society ensures that a Smokers' Helpline Quit Coach will make the call and offer practical tips, support and referrals to additional resources.

The Canadian Cancer Society Smokers' Helpline is a free, confidential service that offers personalized support, advice and information about quitting smoking and tobacco use. Smokers' Helpline is available in English and French by phone, online and text messaging, and more than 100 additional languages through an interpreter by phone. The service can be accessed at 1 877 513-5333 or www.smokershelpline.

"By integrating with Smokers' Helpline, we can sustain the program since we are able to triage the patient to community follow up upon patient discharge," says Carlene MacDonald, program coordinator at the Brockville General Hospital. "We are able to rely on the Quitline's Quit Coaches who are trained exclusively in tobacco cessation."

To date, 70 hospitals in Canada currently employ the Ottawa Model for Smoking Cessation program, and 12 are integrated with Smokers' Helpline as part of their participation, with three more identified for future implementation.

Just Clean Your Hands

Hand hygiene audits have been conducted regularly at BGH and reported to the Ministry since March 2009. All audit results can be found on the BGH internet website at this link:

<http://www.bgh-on.ca/Public%20Reporting%20of%20Patient%20Safety%20Indicators%20Hand%20Hygiene.htm>

The results are available provincially at:

http://www.health.gov.on.ca/patient_safety/public/ps_pub.html

The most recent hand hygiene audits were conducted Feb 28 to March 14, 2011

(CSS audits had to be extended to March 25 as the minimum number of audits was not reached within the two week period).

The results for each site were as follows:

Type of Indication	% Compliance for Charles Street Site	% Compliance for Garden Street Site	Provincial Average 2010	New Provincial Average 2011
Moment 1 – Before initial contact	54%	91%	66%	72%
Moment 2 – Before Aseptic technique	35%	100%	N/A (provincial average not calculated)	N/A (provincial average not calculated)
Moment 3 - After body fluids exposure	N/A (no data collected)	100%	N/A (provincial average not calculated)	N/A (provincial average not calculated)
Moment 4 – After contact	76%	94%	79%	83%

The next set of hand hygiene audits is set to take place June 6 to June 20, 2011.

The Ministry of Health and Long Term Care requires that every hospital in Ontario conduct hand hygiene audits and report their results annually.

The success of future hand hygiene audits is in your hands.
Please remember your 4 moments of hand hygiene.

Infection Control Poster Headed for National Conference

Dana Finnegan-Yee (left), BGH Infection Control Coordinator, and Catherine Thorp, BGH Medical Laboratory Technologist, show the display they will host at the Community and Hospital Infection Control Association (CHICA) Annual Conference to be held in Toronto May 29th to June 2nd. The Eastern

Ontario Chapter of CHICA encouraged its members to submit abstracts for the event, and the story of our successful containment and eradication of the VRE outbreak in BGH last year won display space at the conference

May 5th was "Stop, Just Clean Your Hands Day" and BGH Infection Control put up a great display by the main entrance at Charles Street that reinforced the message of hand hygiene.

TABOULEH - A TASTY SUMMER SIDE DISH TO COMPLEMENT ANY MEAL EVERYONE WILL LOVE IT AS AN ALTERNATIVE TO SAME OLD RICE OR POTATOES

www.foodnetwork.com

Ingredients

- 1/2 cup medium grain bulgur (find in health food section at Superstore) or Quinoa (prepare as directions- omit 1 1/4 water)
- 1 1/4 cups water
- 4 cups loosely packed, roughly chopped flat-leaf parsley, about 3 bunches
- 1 1/2 cups peeled and diced tomatoes, about 3 to 5 Roma tomatoes,
- 1/4 cup green onions chopped, white and some of the green, about 2 green onions
- 1/4 to 1/2 cup loosely packed, roughly chopped mint leaves

I like to add cucumbers chopped into small cubes and crumbled feta cheese

For the dressing:

- 1/4 cup freshly squeezed lemon juice
- 1/4 teaspoon minced garlic
- Pinch salt

1 tablespoon extra-virgin olive oil

Directions

Bring water to a boil, pour in bulgur, stir, cover, and turn off heat. Let stand 20 to 25 minutes or until most of the liquid is absorbed and bulgur is fluffy and tender. Pour off any remaining liquid.

To prepare dressing, in a small non-reactive bowl, whisk together lemon juice, garlic, salt and oil. Taste and adjust seasonings.

In a large salad bowl, toss together parsley, tomatoes, green onions and mint. Add bulgur. Pour dressing over salad, toss to combine. Taste and adjust seasonings.

Morph 1: Add more diced tomatoes, diced cucumbers, and diced raw zucchini or crumbled/cubed low fat feta cheese to the tabouleh.

MAKE IT A COMPLETE MEAL : Add rinsed and drained canned chickpeas, or rinsed and drained canned lentils

MEAL IDEA: Grill some boneless, skinless chicken breast, dice, toss with the tabbouleh and wrap it up in fresh pita.

Morph 4: Serve as a small side salad with fish.

Morph 5: substitute bulgar with quinoa or couscous (prepare as per packaged directions).

National Denim Day

Thank you to Dietary Staff for promoting National Denim Day again this year. The two donation boxes at the cafeterias picked almost $50.00 in donations, and many happy staff took the opportunity to wear jeans to work—all in the fight against breast cancer.

Because of the generosity of the many donors who have contributed to the CURE Foundation for breast cancer, many Canadian hospitals were able to purchase state-of-the-art equipment that provides a quicker and more precise procedure in the detection and treatments of breast cancer as well as easier biopsy procedures. CURE is proud to have been able to contribute to the improvement of these breast cancer centres.

In the field of research, CURE has lent its financial support to organizations, universities and projects to aid in many areas of breast cancer research, including genetics.

The CURE Foundation also supports projects and community programs that promote breast cancer awareness and education.

Together we can make a difference
